FOTO is a Greater Benefit when the Patient Uses the Computer or Tablet

Tip of the Day

FOTO is a Greater Benefit when the Patient Uses the Computer or Tablet

Yes, the patient can respond to FOTO using a paper form. But here are some benefits of using the electronic input method. Older patients are getting more tech savvy.

- It automatically calculates the results, which is more productive for staff.
- The intake score is known right away and can be verified by the therapist.
- It allows the therapist to review the patient report immediately.
- The CAT model of questions reduces the number of questions the patient has to answer.
- The comparison of the patient intake score to the national database is slightly more accurate.
- Sometimes paper forms can get lost.
